"New Beginnings" Nothing lasts no matter how important it claims to be. Nothing lasts, and therefore along with the old year not only difficulties but much that is beautiful has passed away ... We cannot say to any moment: "Stay a while! You are so lovely!" Anything that is within time comes and then passes away.

Our feelings towards the new year show the same ambivalence as our feelings toward the old year. A new beginning is something precious; it brings hope and possibilities as yet undisclosed. "Every beginning has a magic about it that protects us and helps us live" (Herman Hesse) ... What can we as Christians say at this moment of transition? First of all, we can do the very human thing the moment urges upon us: we can use the time of reflection in order to stand aside and widen our vision, thus gaining inner freedom and a patient readiness to move on again."

[Benedict XVI quoted in MAGNIFICAT Christmas 2008 pp. 174-175]
