A huge word of thanks to all who helped with the parish quiz evening last Saturday. It was held in the parish rooms because we thought there would not be many people. In the end, more than 50 wanted to come – last minute planning could have caused complete chaos but, thankfully, the Social Committee was able to cope with this. The parish benefited to the tune of £480.00 which will help as we pay the annual insurance premium (£2,460.06) and autumn/winter heating becomes a topic of conversation!

A second huge word of thanks to all who helped out during the CSSp council meeting. The brethren like to be well fed in Hassop which they were! Also, some were accommodated overnight by parishioners. Grateful thanks!
